

DANCE NO MORE

© C. S. Craig

As night surrenders to daybreak
Clouds dissipate the mountains awake

Sunlight begins to warm the air
Created reflections are everywhere

Solar flames across the morning sky
Heavenly brush strokes painted on high

Naked trees of purple and crimson
Snow white crystals beyond description

Shadows dance on forest floors
Day becomes night till they dance no more