

I AM CONSCIOUS

© C. S. Craig

I am conscious! I think! I am aware I exist. I choose. Therefore, I am! Because I exist and I had nothing to do with the origination of my existence, there must be a necessity of cause. It is impossible for nothing to become something. Nothing will always be nothing unless something causes nothing to be something. That something would have to be beyond comprehension, beyond time and space while being all in all...God by necessity.
