

LEARNING IS DISCOVERY

© C. S. Craig

Learning is discovery; Discovery is learning! I have discovered that while the world sleeps, wisdom takes a stroll just before the dayspring. Often, I awake early and listen for her voice and the sound of her footsteps. When she passes, I am swept away to the next adventure. Wisdom and I, dancing together, hand in hand, through the fields of imagination, down the paths of wonder, into the valley of light, across the waters of reason, onward and upward to the habitation of knowledge, trailing the clouds of glory into the great unknown. All about is a falsetto of harmonic voices, calling me to the mysteries of life and wisdom.....whose keeper is God.